PROBLEM PROPERTY INITIATIVE

Improving community safety and livability, by coordinating the efforts of municipal and provincial agencies involved in licensing, regulation and enforcement concerns related to problem properties.

The Problem Property Initiative addresses chronic offenders (both residential and commercial) that require an enhanced multi-agency response. There are two confidential ways to report a problem property - either call 311 or report online. The confidential online reporting form below allows you to report concerns about a problem property in your neighbourhood.

Resources:

Call 311

OR Report Online:

PROBLEM PROPERTIES

MUNICIPAL (BYLAW) ENFORCEMENT, CITY OF EDMONTON

Responds to concerns about private property standards, including buildings in disrepair, excessive accumulation of materials, derelict automobiles, discarded appliances, garbage and litter, long grass and weeds, graffiti, fire pits, noise, excessive odours and emissions.

Calling 311 allows the City to track all complaints. Anyone reporting via 311 is advised to request a file number. They can also request a call back from the Municipal Enforcement Officer for McCauley.

The following concerns can also be reported online: concerns about dead animal for removal from roadways or public land; dog barking excessively; property with excessive dog defecation; property with dangerous snow or ice on the sidewalk; unlicensed pet; untidy or unsightly property; noxious weed infestation on private property.

MCCAULEY COMMUNITY CLEAN UPS

Several partners, including McCauley Apartments, E4C, McCauley Revitalization, McCauley Community League, Boyle Street Ventures, and Safer McCauley collaborate to offer this service several times a year. A contractor circulates McCauley to pick up illegally dumped junk and unwanted large items free of charge. Households and businesses simply place items in the alley behind their properties.

Community volunteers contribute to the Clean Ups by participating in a McCauley Litter Blitz.

For upcoming dates, refer to McCauley-based information sharers, including Boyle McCauley News, Safer McCauley, McCauley Neighbours.

Community members wanting to receive information about clean ups and other community activities can request to be added to Safer McCauley's direct email list by contacting Mark Davis: mark.davis@reachedmonton.ca

NEIGHBOURHOOD EMPOWERMENT TEAM

Neighbourhood Empowerment Team (NET) is a partnership between City of Edmonton, EPS, and the Family Centre. NET works with residents, community, businesses and organizations to build solutions to create safe and vibrant neighbourhoods and communities.

NET responds to and resolves repeated or significant incidents that may impact the security and safety of Edmontonians across the city.

NET achieves this by working with community to address the factors that contribute to the issue, along with reducing the fear of crime and social disorder by using problem solving approaches.

CRIME PREVENTION THROUGH ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN

Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design can be effective in preventing property crimes such as Break & Enter, Theft of Auto, and Theft from Auto. CPTED is a basic, common sense approach, and you can find all sorts of tips (steering wheel club, tamper proof license plate screws, lighting, maintenance of vegetation, window bars etc.) at the links below.
